D2000 DDE Server

D2000 DDE Server is a client process of D2000 real-time information system. It was designed to make information from D2000 system available to other applications, which support the interface DDE. An advantage of the mentioned access is, that during work a system user is not limited by quantity and variety of standard system tools.

An appropriate tool enlarging the possibilities of D2000 system in the area of data processing is Microsoft Excel. Excel allows to create various printing arrangements with a quality graphic layout and realization of more compound statistical calculations.

Related pages:

System processes