About D2000 System

The IPESOFT Company develops software technologies, products and solutions in the area of enterprise information systems and information technologies. A result of this development is the family of software products - D2000 Enterprise Production Systems.

The D2000 System allows to create the integrated solutions throughout the whole enterprise - from the process automation, through comprehensive monitoring and managing of production processes, up to the direct integration with information systems of the enterprise.
We provide three basic levels of D2000 products:

- D2000 Basic
- D2000 Standard
- D2000 Enterprise

The range and the license conditions are described in the chapter Licensing the D2000 products.