

On-line help settings

On-line help for development of D2000 application in Java contains a description of Java classes. The files are placed in subdirectory Java in D2000 installation directory. The installation of on-line help is following:

1. Open Eclipse project for D2000 application and right-click on d2sysbase. Choose an item Properties.

2. A dialog window open to set a path to the directory which contains the help files (parameter Javadoc location path). Click on button Validate to validate.

3. Then click on OK. The on-line help is installed.

Usage

The help to Java classes/methods opens when you move a mouse pointer on the method and press F1. There is a cross-reference to the file in the right part.

Related pages:

Java as a script language