Directory Structure

D2000 directory structure

D2000 system installation creates two directories - for program files and application files.

- installation directory - contains program files of D2000
- application directory - contains configuration files of a D2000 system application