About HTML Help (Using the D2000 HTML Help Viewer)

HTML Help

D2000 V10.00 system configuration online reference help has been created by means of Microsoft HTML Help. HTML Help is a technology based on HTML standard (Hypertext Markup Language). HTML Help uses the basic components of Microsoft Internet Explorer. It provides easy navigate controls allowing user to gain and search for required information.

HTML Help allows to create online documentation, that may be updated via Internet which provides the latest information and updates of the documentation. Using Internet, as the method for documentation updates, also lightens gaining the documentation innovations. The reference help uses the initiatives provided by the latest technology of source usage available on Internet.