

Java as a script language - usage

Java as a script language in the D2000 System

A basic implementation element is an Active picture (or Event) represented by one class with application code. An instance of this class will be activated when the Picture/Event is being opened.

This class allows accessing with the help of some functions to the D2000 System.

Related pages:

Java as a script language