On-line help settings

On-line help for the development of the D2000 application in Java contains a description of Java classes. The files are placed in the subdirectory Java in the D2000 installation directory. The installation of online help is following:

1. Open Eclipse project for the D2000 application and right-click on d2sybase. Choose the item Properties.

2. A dialog window opens to set a path to the directory which contains the help files (parameter Javadoc location path). Click on the button Validate to validate.

3. Then click on OK. The online help is installed.

Usage

The help to Java classes/methods opens when you move a mouse pointer on the method and press F1. There is a cross-reference to the file in the right part.

Related pages:

Java as a script language