

Configuration of Display Palettes

Configuration of display palettes

The display palette is a D2000 system object, which contains information on how a graphic object acts in dependence on the values of individual attributes of the complex D2000 system object value.

Complex value of D2000 system object		Graphic object in the picture
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• value</li><li>• limit status</li><li>• process status</li><li>• user flags</li><li>• process alarms</li></ul>	 display palette	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• frame (outline) color</li><li>• fill color</li><li>• text color</li><li>• display mode (normal, not drawn, blink, ...)</li><li>• background color</li><li>• 3D effect</li></ul>

To configure display palettes click the item Display palettes ... from the menu Configuration. It opens the selection window allowing you to create, modify or delete display palettes.

To create a new display palette

1. Click the button Create a new object in the selection window.
2. It opens the dialog box "New object". Enter the name of new display palette and click the button OK.
3. Configuration of the display palette is being performed in the configuration dialog box Display palettes.
4. In the dialog box carry out the configuration and then click the button Save.

To modify the display palette

1. In the selection window, select the display palette you want to modify.
2. Click the button Edit object.
3. Configuration of the display palette is being performed in the dialog box Display palettes.
4. In the dialog box carry out the required changes and click the button Save.

To delete the display palette

1. In the selection window, select the display palette you want to delete.
2. Click the button Delete object.

Related pages:

- Configuration of palettes
- "Display palettes" configuration dialog box
- Use of display palettes