Directory Structure (Linux)

Directory Structure of D2000 System

The D2000 installation works with two directories into which the program and application files are copied

- installation directory - containts D2000 system program files,
- application directory - contains D2000 application files.

ⓘ The D2000 installer and administration scripts store information about installed instances, applications, archives and processes into a directory

`/etc/d2000/`

These files are not intended for manual editing.